Dear ISJ Family,

New Year's Resolutions from Our Pope Francis:

Pope Francis has rocked both the religious and secular world by eschewing papal security, embracing the poor and reaching out to people. And it won't end there. For 2015 he's got a whopping New Year's resolution. When Pope Francis met before Christmas with Vatican employees, mostly lay people with families, he asked them to do 10 things. The list sounded remarkably like suggestions for New Year's resolutions: He preaches against gossip, reminds us to finish our meals, and even tells us not to fear marriage. Described as the "world's parish priest," Pope Francis goes beyond abstract theology, and gives us advice we can use daily.

What lessons from him can we bring into 2015?

Pope's most memorable quotes in the form of New Year's resolutions. This is the Pope Francis list.

1. Don't gossip. It's one of our hobbies. For Francis, it's also one of the most evil activities. The Catholic leader denounces gossip as "murder." He feels so strongly about it that in less than a year as pontiff, Francis has preached against gossip in at least 6 different instances. He says when we gossip, we "are doing what Judas did," and "begin to tear the other person to pieces. Every time we judge our brother in our hearts or worse when we speak badly of them with others, we are murdering Christians," Francis says. "There is no such thing as innocent slander."

2. Finish your meals. No leftovers, please. Named after a 12th-century saint who lived in poverty, Francis slams a "culture of waste" that neglects the plight of the hungry. The Pope says: "We should all remember... that throwing food away is like stealing from the tables of the poor, the hungry! I encourage everyone to reflect on the problem of thrown away and wasted food to identify ways and means that, by seriously addressing this issue, are a vehicle of solidarity and sharing with the needy."

3. Make time for others. Tending to 1.2 billion members, Francis seems too busy for anything else. That is, until he calls up strangers. Or entertains a random biker. Or sends a handwritten letter to a Jesuit he has never met. The Jesuit who got the letter, Fr James Martin, says "If the Pope can find time to be kind to others, if he can pause to say thank you, if he can take a moment make someone feel appreciated, then so can I. So can we."

4. Choose the 'more humble' purchase. The Pope preaches against materialism. "Certainly, possessions, money, and power can give a momentary thrill, the illusion of being happy, but they end up possessing us and making us always want to have more, never satisfied. 'Put on Christ' in your life, place your trust in him, and you will never be disappointed!"

5. Meet the poor 'in the flesh.' "It is not enough to mediate this commitment through institutions, which obviously help because they have a multiplying effect, but that is not enough. They do not excuse us from our establishing personal contact with the needy. The sick must be cared for, even when we find them repulsive and repugnant. Those in prison must be visited. Charity that does not change the situation of the poor isn't enough."

6. Stop judging others. In the same way he denounces gossip, Francis condemns prejudice. He reminds "intolerant" Catholics, for one, to respect atheists. "If we, each doing our own part, if we do good to others, if we meet there, doing good, and we go slowly, gently, little by little, we will make that culture of encounter: we need that so much. We must meet one another doing well."

7. Befriend those who disagree. "When leaders in various fields ask me for advice, my response is always the same: dialogue, dialogue, dialogue. It is the only way for individuals, families, and societies to grow, the only way for the life of peoples to progress, along with the culture of encounter, a culture in which all have something good to give and all can receive something good in return. Others always have something to give me, if we know how to approach them in a spirit of openness and without prejudice."

8. Make commitments, such as marriage. The Pope says: "Today, there are those who say that marriage is out of fashion; in a culture of relativism and the ephemeral, many preach the importance of 'enjoying' the moment. They say that it is not worth making a life-long commitment, making a definitive decision, 'forever,' because we do not know what tomorrow will bring. I ask you, instead, to be revolutionaries, to swim against the tide; yes, I am asking you to rebel against this culture that sees everything as temporary and that ultimately believes that you are incapable of responsibility, that you are incapable of true love. I have confidence in you and I pray for you. Have the courage 'to swim against the tide.' Have the courage to be happy."

9. Make it a habit to 'ask the Lord.' "Dear young people," he says, "some of you may not yet know what you will do with your lives. Ask the Lord, and he will show you the way. The young Samuel kept hearing the voice of the Lord who was calling him, but he did not understand or know what to say, yet with the help of the priest Eli, in the end he answered: 'Speak, Lord, for I am listening' (cf. 1 Sam 3:110). You too can ask the Lord: What do you want me to do? What path am I to follow?"

10. Be happy. The true Christian, says the Pope, exudes great joy. He says keeping this joy to ourselves "will make us sick in the end. Sometimes these melancholy Christians' faces have more in common with pickled peppers than the joy of having a beautiful life." Francis says, "The Christian sings with joy, and walks, and carries this joy." This joy, he reminds us, should translate to love of neighbor.

Blessed Volodymyr Pryjma

(Ukrainian: Володимир Прийма) was a Ukrainian Greek Catholic choir director and martyr.

Pryjma was born on 17 July 1906 in the village of Stradch, Yavoriv District. He graduated from a school for cantors, which was at that time under the care of Metropolitan Andrey Sheptytsky, and then he was made the cantor and choir director in the local village church in Stradch. Pryjma was married with two young children.

On 26 June 1941 agents of the Soviet NKVD mercilessly tortured and murdered him along with Fr. Mykola Konrad, in a forest near Stradch as they were returning from the house of a sick woman who had requested the sacrament of reconciliation. His body had not been found until a week after the murder. He had been stabbed multiple times in the chest with a bayonet. He was beatified by Pope John Paul II on June 27, 2001.

We are pleased to inform you Most Reverend David M. O'Connell, C.M. will once again be the Honorary Chair of the 2nd Annual Walk of Hope for Catholic Charities, Diocese of Trenton, taking place on March 28, 2015 at Mercer County Park in West Windsor.

Please help Catholic Charities, Diocese of Trenton continue its mission of reducing poverty, promoting recovery and strengthening families by joining the Walk of Hope. While we serve those in need regardless of religious affiliation, the caring and loving work of Catholic Charities, Diocese of Trenton touches those in your parish. News of specific down-to-earth care seldom gets back to the parishes and/or the attention of the priests and parishioners. People are fed, counseled, supported and are literally able to survive because of the work Catholic Charities does. This is in large part because of your support and the generosity of your people. The Walk of Hope is around the corner and we are optimistic it will be a great success.

Catholic Charities has been a trusted resource since 1913, making sure no one in crisis has had to go it alone. So, don't participate in the Walk of Hope alone. Invite family, friends, neighbors and co-workers to join your team or to sponsor your team by making a donation.

Please take a moment to view our sponsorship opportunities or more information visit www.walkofhopenj.org or contact Jennifer Leip at 609-394-5181 ext. 1137 or at jleip@cctrenton.org.
